

List of test cases and what they test

Test Cases	What they Test login	• Ability to start a front end session • Read current users accounts file before login transaction • Check if username and password is valid • Read available games file • Starts to accept transactions • Do not accept transaction until login is accepted • Do not allow another login until current user is logged out • Admin login allows all transactions • Non-admin login only allows unprivileged transactions logout	• Ability to end a front end session • Write out daily transaction file • Stop accepting transactions except login • Should only be accepted when logged in • Should not accept any other transaction other than "login" after a logout create	• Should create a new user with the ability to buy/sell • Ask user for new username • Ask for type of user (admin, full-standard, buy-standard, sell-standard) • Should save all information to daily transaction file • Can only be used when logged in as admin • Username at most 15 characters • Username must be unique • Max credit is 999,999
delete	Removing a user (privileged transaction) - Should ask for user - Should save the info - Only accepted by admin users - Username must be of an existing user but not the current user - Deleted user cant do nothing afterwards

sell	The ability to put a game up on sale - Should ask for a game name - Should ask for a price - Should save info to daily transaction file - Must not be standard buy - Only accepted when logged in any type - the maximum price for a game is 999.99 - the maximum length of a game name is 25 characters - All games must have unique names - no further transactions should be accepted on a new game for sale until the next session.
buy	Purchasing a game available for sale - Should ask for the game name then the sellers username - Should add the game to users collection - Should credit the seller with an amount equal to games price and deduct that from the users bal - Should save this info to the daily transaction file. - Semi-privileged transaction - only accepted when logged in any type of account except standard-sell. - game name must be an existing game - the buyer must have enough money to buy the game - the buyer must not already have a copy of the game in their collection refund	Issue a credit to a buyer's account from a seller's account (privileged transaction) ● Should ask for the buyer's username, seller's username and the amount of the credit to transfer ● Should transfer the specified amount of credit from the from the seller's credit balance to the buyer's to the buyer's credit balance ● Should save this information for the daily transaction file ● Constraints: buyer and seller both must be current users addcredit	Add credit into the system for the purchase of accounts • In admin mode should ask for the amount of credit to add and the username of the account to which the credit is being added • In a standard account should ask for the amount of credit • Should save this information to the daily transaction file • Constraints: in admin mode the username has to be an existing username in the system. A maximum of $1000.00 can be added to an account in a given session

-----------	--